Miss Hilda

Athena.

& The peas & beans boiled in their shells just as if we were animals - I shall now have no opportunity of seeking lessons as he farded off even leaving his house - When I came here he took many of the master's pupils away to give me & told me he was a very bad man & the pupils literally did nothing with him - he now doubtless has the same false report against me - I am incensed. Such impudence & real abuse but I have had & have at the present moment a fellow sufferer. But he is in a little awe of this French lady - she has not the slightest fear of him.

I was really very much consoled this morning when overcome by my sorrow for ^{am} grieved at my position & the abuse & falsehood of this poor man. When really I have been shocked & made with the greatest politeness & gentleness from ^{gentleness of high position} these both in relation & in my own country - but I am very much pleased for every way last Sabbath with the son of Sir William Keith - who are a happy quiet family he the champion of a large district in Perth.

The ones I refer to, were the subjects of your husband's two sermons for the years 1607 & 1617 Deuteronomy xxviii 25: - Isaiah xl.ii 16 - I often from the my head & bodily strength must give way - I feel so worn & must & distracted & amazed by such mounts of beastly - I have given this poor man all my holidays to ph. I had a regret - because I was not across the ocean of his establishment & wished to advance my pupils - he wrote & for an expressed him perfectly satisfied with all my duties - until I told him I could not remain - I have six days at my disposal again at Easter - when I must seek lessons in my quarter - but he has no regard to his word & therefore will try to convince me in my possession with Mr. Deane was hardly created since September I have been entreating him for some book to teach my class to read since Sep. & I have not yet obtained them - he is not worthy of a man of Mr. D's standing & eminence as a professor in his house - I may excuse this hurriedly written note & believe with are getting better & heard.

Believe me most truly yours

Very excu my writing to you again all the best of health

Soermillis summoned me to his room to see me. I went to me in reference to my note.
Such the text and I was obligated to see him and he was there for he has engaged me for his house. I never found his dear. I am I shall departing he has increased my duties to visit each day. I am sure. I am sure find me. I am sure. I am sure when he told me I was always true to take a walk & indeed

I need a little rest as before #2 OK. I have had 4 hours hard work - They always have Greek lessons for 2 to 4 when I can't take my pupils to music.
He is going to compel me to work for 1-6-5 ^{hours} without any rest & again when I am overpowered with fatigue I am to work for 8-9 - He also says I am to eat every thing they eat - He won't allow me even an egg to be bailed nor an apple wasted - the only favor I asked as my stomach was so fatigued by then coarse dishes. I was obliged by the Doctor's orders to cease eating them. I have been in the habit the last 3 Monday taking a wine glass full of fine for my dinner. Since I wrote entreatingly him to free me in April next - he ordered this to cease - & complied. The contents of his decanter to present he having seen & lost. Finding when the servant took my glass he told her to give me as little as possible. Of course I shall now take another drop of his wine. I have been obliged to keep myself a little better & a little tea - as really I often tremble & feel I shall sink in giving my O K lesson if I can not have some little refreshment before I go to bed - The servants look with pity upon me & wish I were they make me a cup of tea but I fear he won't allow me the water.

Mrs Hornumhoff has kindly purchased me a little tea for I find it impossible not knowing the language to get even this & I hope she will purchase me a little wine for I shall need need a little more than even as I dare not try my weak stomach with the dreadful coarse meat cooked with celery leaves
