

So that if it should be disapproved, or if you 1853
should disapprove it, you may but say that you never saw a hand of mine. I have sent it to Ketchikan, and request he send it also to the Athanas. I think a hope to write you these facts now, because I want you to understand why I did not speak to you. I want to give you an autograph document, to release you from all blame, if blame there should be, and at all events, all responsibility is the promise.

Once again, my dear and precious friend, farewell. God bless you - he has blessed you, and will in your noble labors.

My most affectionate and remembrance regards to Mrs. Fice, and my cordial love to Brooke you, and your good wife, who are destined to be blessed with the day, I don't know.
