My dear Mr Hill -

as I hear you have seen the first part of the correspondence relative to the affair between Mr Lacock & myself, in which he charges me with putting words in your mouth which I never heard you utter, & consequently could not have told Mrs C. King, I think it but just that you should see

see the enclosed sequel -

I cannot but regret that Mr Doock did not let the matter drop after his last letter to Mr Merbin, & I think you will agree that his letter to me was uncalled for, & unbecoming a Christian, & a gentleman.

I have therefore to ask you to have the kindness to act as my friend on on this occasion, & to Endeavour to obtain an apology from Mr Locock for this uncalled for insult, he not having answered my last letter.

Believe me
very sincerely yours
