

Recd 21 May 1860
by Mr. J. W. Field

Cambridge Feb. 21.
1859.

My dear Dr. Hæe

My friend Mr. G. W. Field, of Philadelphia - after having passed some a fine years in study & travel in Europe - is about to visit Athens, before returning home. Of course I commenced him to you and Mrs. Hæe: for who has seen Athens, unless he has seen the sorters of Athenian education? Mr. Field was last winter in Rome, and there my wife's mother & sisters were much indebted to his for unwearyed kindness and most intelligent direction in the wilderness of art, in the Eternal City. I am sure you will enjoy his Society, & that he, like other pilgrims to the shores of America, will find himself happy in your ever hospitable home.

May I ask you to present Mr.
Field to Geneva Church, Mr. Byllas Mr. Fairlay, as the Librarian of the University, & such other members of your Athic Circle, as you may find it convenient. I am with Jane and with him. Al! has I say the lov of my man who can go to Athens, You account of Prof. Hackett's misfortunes has Jane's account leads me to him; perhaps he can the better illustrate Dr. Paul's shipwreck. At all events, when I anticipate my own delightful voyage to Greece and Macedonia last summer with the pitiless helms, that he seems to have experienced there, I always renounce my grudge against him for his year in Athens.

With much love to Mrs. Felt, Miss Baldwin

Brook you and other friends

Rev. D. Hill

Love most truly yours

C. C. Feltus