

My dear beloved father

Your notes gave me great joy the 'in the very first moment that I received it my heart beat quicker as I feared I should have some bad news of the health of my dear mother I feel so sure that if something was the case with any of you my dear parents you should send me word and allow your poor infirm daughter to come and as faithfully I am by born at your feet, tell me tell what shall I do when I'll go far from you as every day I feel that I love more dearly my dear father and my beloved mother. I must finish in haste you are so grievously impatient how very beautiful your letter of your favourite poet.

My dearest love to my dear mother and to you dear and renowned father all my most grateful and devoted feelings.

Ever y^r -
Sincerely

The I believe to be remembered my sincere compliments to Miss Baldwin and I think see the R^d Eschylus letter

Friday.
