

My dear Father?

Since he was a great disappointment not to see you come in last day and when I heard what the reason of your absence from our little visit was I felt very dull and desolate, my dear mother's appearance that all be right seems with your child and a little as I do believe her and in her, my dear dear mother I was so happy to have a little easy talks with her I always have something that makes me love her more and more, to you my dear Father must listen to a little nothing from your daughter and she it is upholding the laws of nature for a child to love its parent & must do it. What is it that makes good feel anxious to not mentioning my position should have given me good news in return as my father has been told to take out all the lands that might be sold and one of his boys will be given more and more for what I have The my father that I should with no end of my property of it how very many you are to be I should not be right and I know you and not to take out what you will first in that manner to charity of it much about the same time, I take will be not sure about them as to I will be in my things and that is a great many as it is the party by it take an interest in the same things, my father thinks that of having nothing to make in my as I feel deeply interested in all that going on and liked to talk it over many and many times. My good I shall talk with you about my intended visit to Athens how kind if you talk to wish you so much to come to your house how deep I feel it I cannot tell, for after all for whom do you care so much ~~if not~~ for a poor isolated infirm creature and intricate poor her own home and land and well so I feel that if I had been in all my private glory you should not have loved me so much, as you do in my misery and sorrow.

With my deepest love for my dear mother believe me your affectionate

Daughter Hedwiga

My compliments to Miss Sadler and think to you know that I'll hold you over now and the time for forgetting willful down in your letter.
