

11 Carlton Terrace

April 24th 1852.

My dear Mr. Hill,

I had expected in a few weeks to have shaken you by the hand, and looked forward with real comfort to the sympathizing and affectionate kindness I should assuredly have experienced from you and Mr. Hill. Athens has become endeared to me now by many happy & soothing memories.

memories, which no other Place can ever now afford. I often think now of the Church there, and of one place in it, which ~~most~~ will never fade from my recollection.

I am appointed, a good deal to my surprise, Paix Attache at Bresden. I had asked formally for Promotion, but had no idea of immediately obtaining it, as I knew there were no Secretaryships of Legation vacant, and therefore fully expected to return to Greece. My present post is no promotion - it is exactly equal in rank and salary to that I held in the Mission at Athens.

Will you ask Mr. Hill to be so kind as to continue the small allowance to the poor farmhand Woman. I will request Mr. Hill to reimburse Mr. Hill.

Breda has many recommendations to me as a residence, a Northern climate - its acceptability from England and Stockholm - and all the advantages & resources of old established Civilization. I never hope again to find so happy and united a little circle as we formed at Athens - I can never expect to find so much kindness and friendship and there is one tie which no new friends can ever have.

We have very comforting news from my father as late as the 13th I hope in less than a fortnight my sister will be with him. We have not suffered in health.

Pray give my affectionate regards to Mrs Hill, and remember me very kindly to Miss Baldwin & Miss Elizabeth and bid them Ever most truly yours

Wm Lloyd Garrison

from England and
recovery of old established investigation I never like again to find so rapidly and wasted a little week as we formed at Otter - have never expect of food to work
there is one the sheet as new
Yours truly
