My dear Sir—

I must in the first instance acknowledge I thank you for yr thoughtfulness in sending me an order for 25/6 sent last week from Mr Green, & secondly I must express my regret that the parcel had not reached its destination sooner, but on reaching London I gave it to my brother to leave at 16 gr St. Helen's acc: to the address given to me at Athens & I rec'd a note from him this morn'g stating that it had been refused at 16 but that it would be left at C. Dr. St. Helen's, so that I hope you will hear the Mail of its having reached yr friends safely I find the address distinctly noted in my Pocket Book 16 so that I believe the error did not originate with me— I hope you will be so kind as to take the earliest convenient opportunity of letting us hear from you we both should like very much to know how our most kind Athenian Host & Hostess are going on I hope when you come to England that you will give us an opportunity of again expressing our thanks to you & Mr Hill in person. We were much surprised to hear that our friend Miss Green was to be married soon. We write ^{her} very happily, & certainly the man she gets is a most excellent girl. I one who has been very religiously & carefully brought up, with a plain

Staying with you & remember us also to your young friends; if Mr Palmer is still in Athens please to remember us to him - & our best remembrance to Mrs W. & you when you see them & now hoping soon to hear from you I remain, my dear Sir, Your most truly
L. M. Hall

no slight a treasure - I write of this opportunity to Mr. [unclear] who I hope will deliver these hasty & scant lines to you, I hope on another occasion to write more at length - but today I wish to be in time for the mail in order to explain to you about the parcel They give our (both) very kindest regards to Mr. Hall
